To help prevent the spread of infectious diseases and parasites, hospitalized or boarded animals MUST be current on all vaccines and free of internal as well as external parasites. If your pet is not current on a flea preventative and/or is found to have fleas, ticks, or internal parasites, our veterinarians will administer the proper treatment for the parasite noted. This treatment will be at the owner's expense. The cost of this treatment varies according to the medication administered.

Protocol for Boarders with Diarrhea

Sometimes while boarding, pets may develop diarrhea or loose stools. Our protocol, if this occurs, is as follows:

Day one- Diarrhea starts. No treatment (wait to see if it resolves on its own.)

Day two- Diarrhea continues. Staff will add a probiotic to a bland prescription diet (at owner's expense).

Day three- Diarrhea continues. The doctor will perform an examination $45.00, and possibly submit a fecal sample to the lab $44.00, and will then determine the right treatment plan (at the owner's expense) for your pet during the remainder of their stay here.
